Carmel Men Organize To Assist Local Officials

Company A of Carmel took definite semi-military shape last Monday night at Manzanita Hall as a result of the city administration's plan to discourage attempts of violence by any groups against city, state or national government. This is Carmel's firm answer to the accusation of being a hotbed for Communistic and other anti-governmental activity.

"This group," said city attorney Argyll Campbell in addressing the assembly, "has been accused of being cossacks, and of being political. It is neither. Nor is it a thrust at organized labor, nor at any organization that uses the ballot box as a constitutional means of effecting changes of government. But it is definitely against any organized minority that intends to seize government by force."

Byington Ford, chairman of the meeting, stressed the fact that there would be nothing secret about such gatherings, and that their object was to assist city peace authorities in maintaining order in case of overt moves by persons bent on creating strife and inciting treason. He stressed the fact that every legal means would be used to combat such disrupting actions, and that formation of a peace-preserving body would be done to weld straight-thinking citizens into a patriotic protective association.

S. F. B. Morse, dominant figure in California business and social life, was introduced and spoke with authority on recent strike conditions in the San Francisco area.

"The old line labor leaders," he stated, "deserve praise for their attempts to keep their followers in check against communistic agitators who were bent on smashing constituted government through radical actions. No persons are more American than your solidly organized workers, and yet communists would create strife between them and law authorities for the known purpose of gaining control of government."

The capacity roomful of representative citizens then learned of the skeleton formation of Company A, to be organized on the infantry basis, and chairman Ford reiterated that no person would be urged to join unless he could do it in wholehearted loyalty to the American constitution. Without exception everyone got in line to sign the roster and take an oath of allegiance to state and national government, and to work under authority of local law enforcement officials in case of need.

Captain of the company will be Jo Mora, famed sculptor; first lieutenant is Byington Ford, well known real estate broker and amateur dramatics producer; second lieutenant will be Willard Whitney, business man and civic leader; top sergeant will be Donald Hale, real estate broker and insurer. All are world-war veterans. Dan Chew is company clerk.

Under them will be six sergeants and twelve corporals, and squads of eight will complete the formation of the group. Over 110 are already enrolled, and many more have signified their intention of joining.

"Remember," said Ford in conclusion, "this is to be a disciplined organization to act in conformity with established laws, and in no sense will it tolerate mob violence."

Sanitary Board Offers Residents New Pastime

TO THE TAXPAYERS AND HOME OWNERS RESIDING WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CARMEL SANITARY DISTRICT:

Something must be done regarding the elimination of the present sewage disposal tank, on the beach north of the Carmel River mouth.

The trustees of your District have the responsibility of doing everything and anything within their power to solve this problem, and make the Carmel sewer system what it should be, safe, efficient, and of such design as to permit of enlargement for future growth. In view of the fact that the voters did not vote the bonds for the plans advocated and still are advocated by your trustees, this notice is directed to all whom it may concern as a request for the submission of proposals for the sewage disposal of Carmel Sanitary District. Your trustees request that such proposals be made in writing and in such detail as will make said proposal acceptable for submission to the State Board of Sanitary Engineers.

All tax payers or home owners within the district are urgently requested to confer with your trustees on the subject of sewage disposal.

There must be some solution to this problem very shortly.

CARMEL JUNIORS WIN ANOTHER BALL GAME

The Carmel Juniors have won another game of baseball against older opponents on the Hatton Field Mesa diamond, this time on Sunday to the score of 15 to 9.

Their lineup consisted of Ray Hamilton, catcher John Sheridan, pitcher; Dean Nichols, 1st base; Bill Turner, 2nd base; Gordon Bain, 3d base; Harry Turner, shortstop; Dominic De Santo, left field; Louis Holtzauer, right field; and Raleigh Belvail, center field. Coach was Bill Ammerman and umpire was Frank Sheridan. The boys' organization consists of John Sheridan as business manager, Dean Nichols team manager and Gordon Bain team captain.

with his truck at Ocean and Dolores and was given a suspended $5 fine.

Douglas Skaife, of Berkeley, was picked up on the 28th for driving without due caution and dismissed with warning, and L. S. Rae, of Monterey, was tagged on the 29th for ignoring a stop sign, and for lacking a driver's license and certificate of registration, while Jess J. Chenoweth, of Monterey, was cited on the 30th to appear for driving without due caution.

Elisa Law of San Mateo is spending some time visiting in Carmel.

Let Us Crowd Sunset Auditorium to the Doors

by Hal Garrott

The most important concert in Carmel's history occurs in Sunset Auditorium, Tuesday at 8:30 p. m., when the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra directed by Michel Penha, assisted by soloists Theodore Norman, violinist, Abraham Weiss, viola, and our own a capella chorus present a program sufficiently popular to be enjoyed by anyone who has an atom of music in his makeup.

The local orchestra augmented by guest players from many parts of the state and led by a great conductor, has progressed far beyond its brilliant achievement of last summer. I doubt if its equal can be found outside a half dozen big city symphony orchestras. The performance Tuesday will astonish you and fill you with pride. You will want to rise from your seat and shout "bravo."

Every orchestra in the country is supported by endowment except Carmel's, which exists on ticket sales alone. By promoting this fine body the Carmel Music Society is doing more for the cultural and physical growth of our city than any chamber of commerce could, no matter how good its intentions. Musicians are flocking here from afar to attend our concerts, as well as for musical associations and contacts. Concert artists seek the prestige of a Carmel performance, and favor us at reduced fees to attain this advantage. Merchants profit financially, and all of us aesthetically, by this increase in our musical population.

Every Carmelite who has had his own pleasure as well as the interest of his city at heart, will be present Tuesday evening to enjoy the outstanding musical event of the year. Let us crowd Sunset Auditorium to the doors and give these local musicians the ovation they deserve.

The program is full of surprises and thrills. You will be entranced by Massenet's Phedre Overture, Mendelssohn's tuneful Italian Symphony, by Theodore Norman's and Abraham Weiss' performance of the Mozart double concerto. The first public appearance of Carmel's a capella chorus, a brand new organization, will delight you. Prices are popular in spite of the fact the orchestra is self supporting.

SERRA PAGEANT FLOAT IN CALIFORNIA RODEO PARADE

The Serra Fiesta float entered by Carmel in the Salinas Rodeo parade during Colmado del Rodeo last Saturday night was one of the features of the historic celebration that annually attracts many Carmelites. It told the thousands of spectators about our forthcoming pageant and play "The Apostle of California" which is to be held August 24th to 28th in the Mission grounds under direction of George Marion, famous actor-producer who has long been a local resident.

Harry Downie, an authority on California mission history, was largely responsible for construction of the float upon a truck loaned by Fitch, 19, both of Pacific Grove, M. J. Murphy, Inc., and took the role of Father Junipero Serra. With him was Clem Higgins as another padre, and Joseph and Eileen McEldowney as Indian children. Included among the Spanish señoritas were Jerry Thienes, Mildred Melrose, and the arch, cross and tolling bell made a most effective atmosphere.

Another outstanding event in which Carmelites took part was the drum corps contest following the parade when Monterey Peninsula Legion Post No. 41, took first prize.

PACIFIC GROVE COUPLE

MARRIED BY JUDGE WOOD

Another marriage took place in Carmel last week when city judge George Wood performed the ceremony for Bruce Arliss, 22, and Jean with Mrs. Jesse Bryant, the bride's grandmother, and City Clerk Sadie Van Brower, as witnesses.

Work Begins at Clinic to Create Community Hospital

Actual work on enlargement of the Velie Metabolic Clinic into a community hospital began last Wednesday and thus set at rest growing fear that the proposition of a Class-A general hospital giving service to patients at cost, and operating with an open medical staff, might never be realized. Construction will be hastened so that within a few weeks the public may avail itself of the new facilities, and Guy Koepp, architect who planned the additions, will be in direct charge of construction.

Directors of the Clinic met Tuesday to authorize the work in conformity with the committee of doctors' plans, and when the additions are installed the new surgical equipment will be purchased. Additions will include complete surgical and obstetrical departments and will make the plant into as comprehensive a health center as can be found in the state.

It will probably be known as the Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital, and from widespread interest the project has aroused it will find this region offering utmost support.

SUMMER CROP OF TRAFFIC VIOLATORS CONTINUES BIG

Traffic cases during the week found Judge Wood in the city court willing to listen to reasonable excuses, but not willing to have Carmel a mecca for careless motorists whether they were peninsula residents or summer visitors.

John Pershing Chubbock of Berkeley, was tagged on the 26th for speeding, and on the 27th paid $5. Jack M. Riordan, of Monterey, on the same day was ticketed for coming out of a parking space without proper arm signal resulting in another machine being sideswiped, and the judge let him off with a lecture. M. A. Lewis, of Santa Cruz on the 27th blocked a cross walk

PWA Offers New $27,000 Loan Grant On City Hall

In the regular monthly council meeting on Wednesday the building of a new city hall came up like a forgotten jack-in-the-box when a $27,000 loan grant from the federal government was announced for that purpose by chief engineer F. E. Trask, of the State P. W. A. A telegram from Congressman McGrath confirmed this, and urged immediate action to secure the fund for Carmel.

In view of the need for another bond election to ask taxpayers to vote on the difference between this sum and that required for the completed hall, time would have to elapse, and to keep the fund in our grasp until all phases can be considered it was moved and passed that Mayor James Thoburn and Judge George Wood, or City Attorney Argyll Campbell, go to San Francisco and state the case to Engineer Trask.

At the last bond election the project of a new city hall was decisively voted down, but councilman John Catlin believed that with new figures of economy shown to the voters it would be carried.

Word came from Frederick R. Bechdolt, who is county S. E. R. A. executive, that applications for work among unemployed, unskilled, skilled and so-called "white collar" workers were wanted, and could be made through Pacific Grove, Monterey and Salinas chambers of commerce. Especially the Carmel clerical and allied workers were urged to sign up, and it was indicated that work might be forthcoming in the city hall and the library. The mayor will confer with Bechdolt to expediate this matter.

In connection with business license taxation of merchants who create their wares from raw materials and sell nothing else commercially manufactured, the old time question arose of where the line was between artisan and artist, and as usual no decision was reached. The peninsula airport rental project was likewise laid aside for further investigation, but on the other hand a resolution was passed to erect stop signs on Carmelo at the 7th Street intersection, know as Calamity Corner from the frequency of wrecks.

With the usual consideration of requests for signs and tree-trimming, adjournment was had until Monday the 13th at 11 A. M.

NEW MANAGEMENT AT ROBLES DEL RIO

Robles Del Rio Inn is open under new management, and with greatly reduced prices in effect all around, including rooms, meals, etc. New scrip rates are in effect for the swimming pool which is heated, and as sanitary as modern science can make it.

All rooms at Robles Del Rio are heated and fitted out with Simmons beds. Diversions include swimming, golfing, riding, and meals that have earned an enviable reputation for lusciousness, according to the management.

FATHER OF LOCAL RESIDENTS HONORED AT MICHIGAN HOME

Word comes of honor being paid to the aged father of Al Byrd and Mrs. Carl Harris, of Carmel, at his Cassopolis, Michigan, home as one of the few surviving Civil War veterans in that part of the state. A dinner was served on the lawn by women of the G. A. R. Relief Corps, and following it "Dad" J.H. Byrd recited from memory the roll call of his company in the 55th Massachusetts Infantry, which was under the historic command of Shaw.

For a great many years he has lived in Cassopolis, and large numbers of his friends came to wish him well, including world war veterans of the town. This survivor of the Civil War will soon be ninety-three and until lately he has been active in civic affairs and every progresmove of the colored race thereabouts.

He served in the Battle of the Wilderness, the Massacre of Fort Pillow, Sherman's March to the Sea and Farragut's victory at Vicksburg, aiding the land forces. For years he was an active member of the local G. A. R.

CALISTA ROGERS DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

In what other village besides Carmel could one drop into a delightful little gallery, its walls hung with exquisite paintings, and listen to songs by the four greatest song writers the world has produced?

Last Friday Calista Rogers charmed a select audience of music lovers with well sung German Lieder by Schubert, Schumann, Wolf and Brahms. The vocalist was especially effective in the Schumann group, which called for dramatic power as well as lyric sweetness of tone.

There were spots in the Wolf and Brahms groups when the singer rose to eloquent heights or sang with sympathetic appeal. Ralph Linsley at the piano played flawless accompaniments. Miss Rogers' final recital in this series occurs August 10 when she sings an interesting program of modern and near modern composers.

CARMEL BALL TEAM PLAYS SUNDAY ON HATTON MESA

Sunday afternoon the undefeated Juniors will take on The Sons of The Legion at the Hatton Fields Mesa new baseball diamond. The local boys have a fast team that will line up much as it did last Sunday when it defeated a scratch group of older players, and will be captained by Gordon Bain, with John Sheridan in the pitcher's box.

Game starts at 2 o'clock, and the field can be reached either by going south along the county highway, or going past the mission and turning left up onto the Mesa.

Nineteen drummers and sixteen buglers, with two drum majors and a color guard will participate in complicated revolutions timed to the second, and the sight and sound will make the pulses go up several notches. Drilled by an army sergeant and supervised musically by leader Ken Lyman, the group has rehearsed to a point where it is predicted that the victory of two years ago will be repeated at San Francisco.

SCOUTS BACK AFTER FOUR WEEKS IN CAMP

After four weeks of encampment, Camp Wing, the new Boy Scout site of the Monterey Bay Area Council, located at Pfeiffer's Redwood State Park, Big Sur, closed July 15th, having had an attendance of 272 different Scouts and leaders.

The camp was conducted entirely on a troop camping basis. Each troop was assigned to a separate and exclusive site, and Scouts did their own cooking and provided for their own welfare and program, receiving training and supervision both from their own adult leaders and the senior staff members supplied by the council. Members of both Carmel Troops 86 and 39 participated.

Carmel Troop 86 won an award for maintaining a clean camp, and in Honor Camp Awards, the name of Gordon Bain, of the same troop, appeared.

SAMPLE HOUSE VANISHES FROM DOWNTOWN CORNER

The mystery of Comstock's sample unit house disappearing from the middle of town in broad daylight has been solved. Housemovers took it apart and wheeled its two sections up to Torres between 7th and 8th, where it has been put back together.

Discovery of its loss was made by horseshoe pitchers mourning for their tournament grounds there on Ocean Avenue at San Carlos. Lo and behold the lot was entirely empty, but before they could get settled to serious all-day play they had to solve the mystery. And they did so by following the broad tracks of the mover's wheels, and once more town athletes will swing arms for ringers at every throw.

The "Mother Of Gregory" Tonight

When the curtains open on "The Mother of Gregory" at the Playhouse tonight and tomorrow night large audiences, if the advance sale is a criterion, will greet the play that has twice brought countrywide honor and fame to Carmel.

In 1924 critics and connoisseurs of the theatre came here from every part of the country to attend the premiere of "The Mother of Gregory" at the opening of the beautiful "Theatre of the Golden Bough."

Last spring, ten years later, critics and tournament judges assembled at the Alcazar Theatre in San Francisco and amid the applause of a capacity audience awarded 1st prize to Edward Kuster's new production "The Mother of Gregory" in a competition involving the forty-five groups comprising the membership of the Northern California Drama Association.

"The Mother of Gregory," based on the ancient Scotch balad, "Annie of Lochroyan," is Maurice Browne's finest piece of dramatic writing, not even excepting his noted "Wings Over Europe." Regarded technically as a masterpiece of construction, emotionally it moves and thrills to an extent only possible with truly great drama. The cast is the same as that enacting the play in the tournament: Georgia Wapple, as the Mother; Betty Meyers, as Annie of Lochroyan; Evert Sholund, as Lord Gregory of the Black Crag; and the director-producer himself in the minor role of Michael, which he created in the original production at the Theatre of the Golden Bough ten years ago.

Tickets are on sale throughout the day in the Court of the Golden Bough, in front of the motion picture theatre, and evenings at the Playhouse box-office.

FOREST THEATER ACTIVE REHEARSING TWO SHOWS

Forest Theater workers are dividing into two groups, one rehearsing with the "Dumb Wife," and the other planning for the Carmel Village Fair.

Bert Herron is now casting the "Dumb Wife," by Anatole France, roles for "The Man Who Married" which will be produced on August 16, 17 and 18. This title is to be taken literally, and the play is extremely artistic, clever and amusing. Those interested in light comedy roles are asked to see Mr. Heron in the afternoon in the Seven Arts Building.

Lita Bathon is active with plans for the Carmel Village Fair, scheduled for September 1st, at the Forest Theater. Those with ideas for stunts or concessions should submit them to her. The Fair is for all Carmel, "to be entertaining or entertained" all the day long, and into the night of September 1st.

PATTERSON SAYS LETS FORCE OUR LEGISLATORS TO BE HONEST

Assemblyman Patterson will introduce and fight for a bill that will do away with the power of corporations to buy the services of legislators.

Patterson states that many assemblymen and senators are employed as attorneys for the large corporations. It is now legal for corporations and legislators to do that which ought to be made a crime. An attorney who accepts a fee from a corporation while said attorney is a member of the legislature, should go to prison. One who accepts the public trust of holding office has the most sacred of all responsibilities. He is in a fiduciary relationship with the people. The people who placed him in office has given him certain powers as their representative and if he turns against them for money no penalty is too severe as a punishment for his breach of trust with the people. An attorney who takes fees from a corporation while he is a legislator cannot represent the people. Therefore, I am going to introduce legislation to make this a crime.

ELLIS E. PATTERSON.

Mrs. Clinton Collins of Fresno has joined Barbara Collins, her daughter here, and they have taken one of La Rambla apartments. Miss Collins has been here a month taking part in theatre work.

Chinese Dancer At Playhouse

Next Sunday night, August 5th, the Playhouse will present one of the most interesting figures of the stage today. Caroline (King Lan) Chew, the beautiful young Chinese dancer, who will give a fascinating program of exotic dances and impressions. Already a sensation in the dance world, and now on the eve of a world tour, it is Carmel's opportunity to see this fine artist before she leaves her native California. For she was, in fact, born in San Francisco, her parents being Chinese of high culture and substantial means, who have accorded her every advantage of wide travel and expert technical training. Itow, Chow Kai Ming, and many other masters have contributed to this training, with the result that added to the long heritage of Chinese culture and poetic imagination the brilliant young artist possesses a technique derived from the best teaching of the present day.

Tickets are on sale daily at the Court of the Golden Bough, in front of the motion picture theatre, also at the Playhouse box-office tonight and tomorrow night on the occasion of "The Mother of Gregory."

ART ASSOCIATION BALL PLANNED FOR SEPTEMBER

The Carmel Art Association held a directors' meeting Wednesday and among other business discussed plans for an elaborate ball at Hotel Del Monte to be given under auspices of the Association. Late in September will be the time, and while it will have the desirable features of the Art Ball of last year it will not have the overcrowding nor some of the other objectionable angles.

An important item of interest lately was the sale of paintings by Armin Hansen and John O'Shea, among others. Thus the new gallery on North Dolores, a block and a half above Ocean has again proven its service to member artists and art patrons, as well as furnishing an opportunity for the general public to enjoy peninsula creative work.

The present exhibit of oils will continue until the 15th, when it will be replaced on schedule by another show.

Mary Vilsac is visiting in Carmel having just returned from Europe.

De Neale Morgan Has Art Exhibit

By Josephine Mildred Blanch
M. De Neale Morgan, well known California artist, was one of the first to establish a studio in Carmel when it was formulating as an Art Colony. Only a few modest homes at that time nestled under tall pines or enveloping oaks—homes of those who came seeking solitude and an idyllic spot in work. Since then she has lived there becoming through the years intimately associated with its civic, social and artistic life. No Carmel resident holds a more honored place in the community than De Neale Morgan.

A Californian by birth, she studied for a number of years in the San Francisco School of Art under Arthur Mathews, Emil Carlsen and Amedee Joullin. Later she was a pupil of William Chase who, more than any other teacher, influenced her Art—as seen in her breadth of technique, the broad massing of light and shadow and elimination of unnecessary detail. For a number of years she has been recognized as one of the outstanding painters of the West and her work has been received and her talent appreciated in Eastern Art centres where she exhibits from time to time her work has been most favorably commented upon by leading art critics.

Also is she associated with leading Art Clubs, being a member of "N. A. Painters and Sculptors of New York," "American Federation of Art, Washington, D. C.," "California Water Color Society," and "West Coast Arts, Incorporated."

At the present time, twenty canvasses by De Neale Morgan hang together in a most attractive exhibit in the Del Monte Art Gallery. They express the latest accomplishment of this artist. It is pleasing to note a collection of such merit. One is of quality sustained throughout. The artist has rendered her every subject in a dignified convincing manner and although there is diversity of subject, all have been chosen from the country in and around Monterey Peninsula—the country she loves to paint.

Most often has she chosen her beloved cypress—in sunshine when the purple shadows lie across white dunes and tall trees make vivid green notes of color against the clear blue of sea or sky, as shown in her picture "Tall Trees and Dunes." Again she has depicted them dark in wierd and tragic outlines rising out of rocky cliffs, rock and trees making a strong silhouette against the wide expanse of silvery sea, as in "Cypress and Silver Sea." This picture holds the centre of the exhibition. It is of rare decorative value.

There is the springtime glory of California in her picture "Old Farm Houses." The farm houses, however, only make for a vivid white note in the middle distance in comparison to the wonder of Nature lying all around. The mountains in the background are vivid blue with the haze of distance. On them lie patches of light greens here and there. A glimpse of the intense blue of sky and white of clouds where the hills divide. The wide meadows and slopes leading up to the white farm houses fairly sing with gleaming yellow poppies and you wait for the call of a meadowlark.

One is convinced more than ever in seeing this most recent work by De Neale Morgan of her sincere consecration to a very high ideal in Art, which has led ultimately to a permanent success.

The exhibit will continue through the month.

Fra Junipero

Last week the section of Serra's letter written in 1772 from Carmel Mission to Father Francisco Palou, presidente of the missions in Lower California, told of shortage of supplies hereabouts and of difficulty in teaching the natives Castilian in order that they might understand Christianity. The letter continues here.

"But now I come to the matter of principal importance," writes Serra. "I am going to San Diego with Commandante Don Pedro Fages, and if it should happen that your Reverence should undertake to explore the stretch of country lying between San Fernando Vellicata and that port in order to distribute in it the fine new missions, and it might be that you are doing that thing now, the occasion might arise in which we could personally embrace each other in the middle or toward the end of September."

"So our mutual communication would take the place of many letters, and we could discuss at our leisure how best to carry on this great work which, without deserving it, the God, our Lord, has put into our hands."

"The great comfort which such a meeting with you would bring to me I leave to the imagination of your Reverence, but please do not come just for my sake, but only in case you think it wise for the greatest good of all. We could make our plans to return each one to his own field before the rainy season, and it seems to me there would be time for it all."

"But above all, I do ask most earnestly that either with your Reverence or else by themselves, two more friars be allowed to come at this time, in order to secure the founding of San Buenaventura, or to take the place of the Missionaries at San Gabriel who, on account of sickness had to leave. If these two were to come to take the places of the sick ones who have gone I will not ask for any more help except it be from the College itself." Next week the letter will tell of the hardships and triumphs in various missions, and the determination to succeed at all costs. This spirit pervades the drama "The Apostle of California," to be produced next month at Carmel Mission by George Marion, based on Serra's life, and is the prime reason for publishing these communications of California's great religious hero.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Love." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1: 17).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love... The mere habit of pleading with the divine Mind, as one pleads with a human being, perpetuates the belief in God as humanly circumscribed,—an error which impedes spiritual growth. God is Love. Can we ask Him to be more?" (p. 2).

BECHDOLT PROMISES ACTION ON SERA JOB APPLICATIONS

Frederick R. Bechdolt, of Carmel, SERRA director for the county, states that registration is now going on for unemployed eligibles in unskilled, skilled and "white collar" classifications to be given jobs on SERRA projects.

All that is needed is for the applicant to visit the Pacific Grove, Monterey or Salinas Chamber of Commerce and fill out a pink slip stating qualifications, and this will be forwarded by the office to headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmahn returned last week to Carmel after a two weeks honeymoon at Lake Tahoe.

LET'S HAVE A CONTEST

Fun for tax payers or home owners in the Carmel Sanitary District is promised during the coming several weeks in a memorandum published elsewhere in this issue at the request of Sanitary Trustees, F. P. Howard, A. T. Shand, C. W. Whitney, H. W. Comstock and Dr. J. B. McCarthy.

The trustees request that in view of voters hereabouts recently refusing to favor bonds of eighty-odd thousand dollars, to be reduced substantially by a federal P. W. grant, to construct a modern sewage disposal system in place of the inefficient present one at the Carmel rivermouth, other proposals should be submitted by local residents.

Full understanding of the humor does not come until the reader discovers that such proposals must be "in writing and in such detail as will make said proposal acceptable for submission to the State Board of Sanitary Engineers." As sanitary engineering is something that cannot be learned in a week by correspondence courses, nor can it be snatched from the pine-scented air of Carmel no matter how poetic the urge, it is thought that only a limited number of proposals will be received.

Granting that the sewage disposal problem is one needing speedy solution, it does seem that the trustees are taking the public a little too much at its word spoken during the recent sanitary election, when some brash voters offered to take a half-hour off and devise a system costing a fraction of the projected plant's figures.

Just how much the forthcoming guessing contest will divert attention from summer theatricals, sun-bathing, Serra Fiesta week, sidewalk gossiping and similar Carmel activities is a question. But it is certain that no matter who suggests what, there will be an instant locking of horns—as well as a blowing of horns—and another jolly family fight will be on.

Carmel is becoming more and more the city-different, and taking the Irish attitude of "I'm agin' it!" regardless of what the issue. Lines of strain develop whether it be over action on school, theatre, road, tree, building restriction, barking dog—or sewer.

So let us get into this new struggle just as soon and as violently as we can.

OPEN SEASON?

It seems that this is a time for asking questions of the people, of giving the residents the job of coming forward with a plan. We have one. The Celebrity Sanctuary. Some weeks ago we advocated a sanctuary for celebrities even as we have one for birds and animals. This week some wide-awake local correspondent for a city daily poached in the forbidden area when he wrote of two very

MARE IN THE SEA

Spurred by the prickings of desire
 Proudly she breaks the sea
 To lash the endless waters
 With young triumphant hooves
 White flies the foam her passion strikes:
 Deep is the waves' embrace
 That holds her as she swims
 Her nostrils quiver as she stirs the storm
 That rushes darkly suddenly upon her,
 Tearing her mane with his gentle frantic fingers,
 Curling in waves against her flanks,
 Thrusting the sharpness of his fury
 Against her wildness.
 Now she is aware
 Of mutual strength
 Now she has beaten her way
 Through the surging of the waters
 And stands upon the beach.
 The storm has gone:
 The waves
 Lap sweetly at her hooves.
 Trembling she turns an eye of milky wonder
 Kindly towards the sea,
 Towards her lover.

SONG OF THE CRYSTAL CHANDELIER

I sing the loveliness of light,
 The brittle shattering of gloom,
 A petaled blossom, white on white,
 Incandescent bloom.

I sing the loveliness . . . let those
 Of plainer worth interpret need;
 I sing light as a crystal rose,
 Beautiful indeed.

—Claire Aven Thomson

DESERT NIGHT

What stirs on the shadow-side of the hill;
 Then furtively skirts the moonlight clearing;
 What slantwise flirts down the burnished sky
 With scissor-snipping wings?

Come closer, my dear,
 It is only the wind's whisper,
 Brushing the dead pods of the mesquite,
 Swaying the long wands of the ocotillo.

It is only night birds murmuring,
 And the small, furred desert-children,
 Scuttling to safety . . . afraid
 Of our giant gargoyle shadows
 Lurching against the moon.

—Winifred Gray Stewart

prominent screen stars who were at the Del Monte Lodge seeking peace and quiet, breaking a story about them that could not be substantiated and which they denied.

It is our idea that there be no open season for celebrities unless they desire to be interviewed. But what is the penalty for poaching? Can it be called a crime like shooting a duck out of season? We are unable to discover the answer and would like to have Carmelities express themselves and tell us how to go about protecting our great and near great.

We request that your plans and proposals be made in writing and in such detail as will make the proopsal acceptable for submission to the State Fish and Game Commissioner.

IT'S YOUR OWN FIRE

Brush and forest fires have sprung up lately in several California points, most serious of which was the Pasadena conflagration which raged for days despite efforts of hundreds of trained firefighters. Carmel and vicinity has been fortunately free from serious blazes, but due to the extremely dry period upon us it is necessary that every person use added care with matches, campfires, rubbish fires, cigarette stubs and all such sources of trouble.

A fire could get a good start with heavy wind conditions and sweep the town. Repeatedly our prevention officials have emphasized this, and yet the carelessness of a moment could undo all the work of a year. Don't give fire a chance. If you see a fire report it at once to the local department by calling Carmel 100, or if it is outside the city limits call Ranger Frank A. Moore, of the State Division of Forestry in this part of Monterey County, at Carmel 227.

Guarding against fire is your direct personal responsibility as an inhabitant of this forested village.—W. J.

PLAY POSTERS

Carmel, home of the drama and enemy of the advertising sign! Yet one of the worst things done by some of the dramatic groups here is to leave their posters nailed to trees, and stuck in store windows and tacked to buildings long after that particular show is past being the thing. If the sponsors were half as eager to get the signs down as they are to get them up, it would have the double gain of beautifying the village and of giving the next play an opportunity to catch the public eye.

Not that it is a new vice. No doubt explorers could penetrate poison oak jungles and find posters from the earliest days still faintly crying their wares. But established custom, in this case, does not give license, and cleaning-up after each production should include the removal of advertising signs.—W.J.

LOUIS SLEVIN, pioneer Carmel stationer, and holder of public offices in the past, was subject to considerable time on KFRC radio Hobbies Hour last week when his collection of beetles was described in detail. This work has been a life-long pursuit, and the collection in his home at Carmelo and Ocean Avenue includes over 25,000 specimens. It is listed as among the twelve big collections on the Pacific Coast and has earned him life membership in the Academy of Sciences, of San Francisco.

This assemblage of specimens has been drawn from all over the world, but in particular this region; locally are to be found some of the most interesting beetles in the country due to its being a meeting place of north and south limits, as well as having distinctive specimens of its own.

A 100 watt electric light burns nightly on the glassed-in Slevin porch, and here hundreds of individuals have been captured. And yet the time place of securing a rare specimen is never predictable, as Slevin once took from a bakery outside window sill one which had never been known before, although later he found a few similar to it on the beach. Again, a youngster brought in a small box containing a rare one that he had casually captured in the backyard. Slevin has a number of specimens named in his honor as their discoverer.

As for size, beetles range from something microscopic, or about the diameter of a pencil dot, to something as big as a man's fist. Many separate and highly specialized studies are connected with the business of collecting, including naming, writing about, habit study and the technique of collecting and preserving. In a master book there are fully 18,000 species listed, and in key points throughout the country are type specimens which are accepted as standard.

The importance of beetle study extends far in the field of agriculture in regards to both the destructive and beneficial varieties, and it is surprising the large number of enthusiasts who pursue without remuneration this inexpensive and time-absorbing pastime. One doctor gave up his practice because it interfered with beetle study; a scientist who spent his days at an academy working with beetles spent his nights home with his own private collection, and, as he said, "Beetles—it's the one word I seem to know."

Far East. On Wednesday 8:00 p. m. all missionary groups on the peninsula and their friends will meet at Asilomar to hear one of the conference speakers.

Vesper services start at seven each evening. The public is invited to meet the missionaries who come from all parts of the world. The services are planned to be of special interest to men. Hon. Shuh Tomii, Consul General from Japan at San Francisco will speak on Friday at 4:00 P. M.

You're The Loser

WHEN you allow Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains to keep you from work or pleasure. You can't go places and do things when you are suffering—and the work or good times won't wait for you. Why allow Pain to rob you of Health, Friends, Happiness, Money?

DR. MILES ANTI-PAIN PILLS have been used for the relief of pain for more than forty years. They taste good; act quickly, do not upset the stomach, nor cause constipation, leave no dull, depressed feeling. Thousands have used them for twenty, thirty, forty years, and still find that nothing else relieves pain so promptly and effectively. Why don't you try them? Once you know how pleasant they are to take, how quickly and effectively they relieve, you won't want to go back to disagreeable, slow acting medicines.

You too may find quick relief. Why wait forty minutes for relief when Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills will relieve you in ten to twenty minutes?

As a household remedy I have never found anything that equalled Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. Mrs. Silas D. Keller, Fairfield, Pa.

I never found anything that was so good to stop pain as Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I have told many about them and I find they are all using them. Mrs. Martha Lacy, Davenport, Iowa

I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for years. I keep them on hand all the time. I can certainly recommend them for pain. Miss Andra Seybold, 3417 W. 2nd St., Dayton, Ohio

Your Anti-Pain Pills have been a wonderful help to me. I have used them for three years and always keep them on hand. Mrs. E. Pierce, Lapwai, Idaho

I have used quite a lot of Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. They have helped me to stop my pain. Mrs. L. E. Shickman, Chicago, Ill.
